
CONFERENCE

Wednesday, 25th February 2026

PREVENTIVE HEALTH CARE – FROM RESEARCH TO ACTION

SHORT CV

Photo: Private

CORNELIA MAHLER

DIRECTOR OF NURSING SCIENCE DEPARTMENT, UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL AND FACULTY OF MEDICINE, UNIVERSITY OF TÜBINGEN

Professor Dr. Cornelia Mahler is the Director of the Department of Nursing Science at the University Hospital Tübingen. As Dean of Studies, she leads the Bachelor's programme in Nursing (B.Sc.) at the University of Tübingen in cooperation with Esslingen University of Applied Sciences. With a background as a registered nurse and early involvement in digital nursing documentation, she has been a strong advocate for interdisciplinary collaboration and innovation in healthcare. She developed the Bachelor's program in Interprofessional Health Care (Heidelberg University) and continues to advance interprofessional education and research to improve patient safety and quality of care. Health promotion and prevention are key themes in nursing and rely on interprofessional collaborative and patient-centred practice.