TOBIAS SCHMID*MODERATOR

Tobias Schmid (Website) is a moderator for high-level conferences and policy dialogues in the fields of health, digital transformation, and technology governance. Moderating in German and English, he guides complex discussions between academia, policy, and practice with analytical depth, structural clarity, and a strong focus on implementation and impact.

Tobias is a doctoral researcher in Media and Communication Studies at Tampere University. His research examines how digital interface design shapes the production, communication, and perception of health knowledge, with a particular focus on mobile and wearable technologies. This academic background enables him to engage confidently with scientific evidence, translational research processes, and questions of public health implementation.
