

CONFERENCEWednesday, 25th February 2026PREVENTIVE HEALTH CARE – FROM RESEARCH TO ACTION*SHORT CV

PHOTO: PRIVATE

ANNA WAGNERASSISTANT PROFESSOR AT THE CENTRE FOR LANGUAGE STUDIES, RADBOUD UNIVERSITY NETHERLANDS

Dr Anna Wagner is an Assistant Professor of Health Communication at Radboud University in Nijmegen, the Netherlands. She serves as project leader and cluster co-lead in the EU Horizon Consortium “PerPrev-CID – Personalized Disease Prediction and Prevention of Chronic Inflammatory Disorders”. She earned her PhD in Communication Science at the University of Augsburg (Germany) and subsequently worked as a postdoctoral researcher in suicide prevention communication at the School of Public Health, Bielefeld University (Germany). Her research focuses on interpersonal communication, media effects, and media representations of health and illness. Anna Wagner currently chairs the Health Communication Divisions of both the German Communication Association and the Netherlands & Flanders Communication Association.